Energy & Environmental Journalist

Roger Harrabin is one of the media's most influential voices on the environment, energy and climate change. He reported for the BBC for over 30 years as Energy and Environment Analyst.

Roger has been a global pioneer in environment reporting. He was founder presenter of the BBC environment programme Costing the Earth and has won many awards for his work in radio and TV.

Roger is a sought-after keynote speaker on environmental issues and climate change. Over his career he has traced the growing influence of environmental issues on domestic and international politics, and on business and society. He has many fascinating and often hilarious stories that work equally well after dinner as during the day.

He is also a highly experienced conference chair and moderator, facilitating events across a range of topics. He is noted for his challenging and humorous style, as well as his depth of knowledge.

His quest for impartiality led him to broadcast two three-part series on Radio 4 tackling the risks and uncertainties in climate science and technology. His reporting on new topics has often been trend-setting - he was, for instance, the first mainstream reporter to highlight the central role that energy would play in the environment. He has interviewed many influential figures including Margaret Thatcher, Tony Blair, Ban Ki Moon, Al Gore and Sir David Attenborough.

Roger's achievements have been widely recognised. He is an Honorary lifetime fellow of St Catharine's Cambridge; Associate Fellow, Green College Oxford and Wolfson College, Cambridge and holds an Honorary Doctorate of Science from Cranfield University for work on the environment.

“The event went really well. Roger engaged the whole audience and there were a lot of questions at the end, which he answered thoroughly. He was definitely the right choice of guest speaker for this event.”

CMS Legal

“I just want to say a big thank you for all your help with our event. Roger has been a pleasure to work with and the delegates enjoyed his stories.”

Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accounting

“Roger brought his years of experience and knowledge to the way he chaired and facilitated the event, gently probing presenters with relevant follow up questions that helped bring out a deeper insight and clarity. Roger was also agile to our needs through the event and brought ‘up to the moment’ topical content.”

Yorkshire Water

“Roger came to speak at the RISING Global Peace Forum about how the climate change emergency and other environmental issues have severe consequences for peace in many parts of the world. Roger was brilliant to work with, both beforehand and during the event, when he was a huge inspiration to our delegates.”

RISING Global Peace Forum

“Roger provided lots of personality and kept the discussion moving well.”

Deloitte

“Roger Harrabin is our moderator of choice. He brings a depth of knowledge to our discussion panels and combines this with an instinctive grasp of what makes a session engaging.”

Global Water Intelligence

“We have had very positive feedback on this event to date, so thank you again for your involvement.”

Burges Salmon

“Thank you very much for your contribution to the inaugural ULI C Change Summit, which was instrumental to its success. We have received lots of very positive feedback on the event and your contribution, which has really inspired people and helped set the sense of urgency.”

Urban Land Institute

“Roger was great, more speakers on environmental matters / new technologies and how DCC could assist.”

“I think my favourite session of the colleague conference was Roger because it brought a real-life situation into our world of work here at the DCC. I came away from some key facts about just how urgent climate change is and the role that technology can play to help us reduce its damaging effects.”

“Roger Harrabin was the standout speaker for me.”

DCC (Data Communications Company)

“Roger was excellent and made it a very successful event. We were really pleased with his involvement, please pass on our thanks.”

United Utilities

“Great questioning . . . I really, really enjoyed the whole thing. Quite different from the usual, good discussion and great insight! Job well done!”

DC Thomson, Energy Voice & SG Voice
